A) Read the following passage and answer its questions:

Although fast food is cheap and tasty and everybody loves it, it is bad for you. Fast food is junk food. It's full of fats, salt and sugar, and it doesn't contain many vitamins. Of course proteins are necessary in our diet to be strong and healthy, and our body needs a little fat, too. But fast food isn't the answer. Eating a few chips every now and then doesn't make you unhealthy. Potatoes are rich in carbohydrates and they give you energy. Just don't overdo it with fried food. For some vitamins, choose a fresh salad with olive oil. Nowadays, most fast food places have salad bars. Eating too much of it is unhealthy.

Many teenagers have made fast food an important part of their diet and are overweight. Also, they don't exercise enough, so at some point, they will probably have health problems. Not only teenagers but also all people need to avoid fast food. They should eat home-cooked meals and lots of salads. They should drink a lot of milk and fresh juice instead of soft drinks. Milk and dairy products are rich in protein and calcium. They are necessary for healthy teeth and bones.
