Read the following passage and answer the questions:

Muhammad: The Messenger of Mercy (blessing & peace be upon him)

The Messenger of Allah, as the Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) is known, was born in 570 CE in Makkah. Because his parents died when he was very young, he was raised by his grandfather and later by his uncle, AbuTallb. He also lived with Bedouins for a few years, in order to learn the classical language and their simple way of life. At the age of 25, Muhammad married a woman called Khadija (may Allah be pleased with her) and lived with her for over 20 years, until she died. Khadija chose him because of his honest and responsible nature.

When he was 40 years old, he received the first verses of the Noble Qur'an from Allah and became the last prophet. Then he had to deliver these verses to all mankind. He kept receiving these verses, which all make up the Noble Qur'an, for about 23 years.

The Qur'an talked about Allah's kindness and also the need for people to be good towards other people. It is stated in the Qur'an that the Prophet himself was the perfect example of kindness, honesty and mercy, not just with people, but also with animals. One day, during prayer, the Prophet heard a child cry. For this reason, he shortened the prayer so that the child could go to his worried mother. Another example involves a poor man. The Prophet Muhammad felt so sorry for him that he gave him the only clothes he had. He was merciful even with his opponents, and he would forget their insults.

The Prophet was also kind to animals. One day, some men saw a bird with two chicks. When they took the chicks, the bird followed them, trying to get its chicks back. The Prophet immediately ordered the men to return the chicks to the bird. On another occasion, he saw a camel that was suffering because it couldn't carry its load. The Prophet felt that its owner was cruel to it, and he was upset.

The Prophet died in 632 CE, but by then he had managed to spread Islam and its teachings in the Arabian Peninsula and unite the Arab tribes in the name of Allah.

Read the following passage and answer the questions:

Water for Life

Imagine going to get a drink of water and discovering that the faucet is dry; or jumping into the shower to cool off on a steamy hot day and discovering that there's no water... Most of us simply take water for granted. We think there's plenty of it in oceans, lakes, rivers, and streams. But this is not the case. The water we are using now is the very same water that the dinosaurs used millions of years ago. It is simply recycled over and over again. There will never be any more water on Earth than there is now .

Most of the water on our planet (97%) is salt water stored in oceans. The remaining 3 percent is freshwater and most of that is locked up in ice caps and glaciers. In fact, less than 1 percent of the planet's water is usable freshwater. It's alarming that at the projected rate of population growth, humanity will use up more than 70 percent of all accessible freshwater by 2025 .

Water is essential to people in more ways than we might think. We need water for cooking, bathing, transportation, and recreation. We eat aquatic plants and fish. We use water to irrigate our crops, to produce hydroelectric power, and to manufacture products. Water is indispensable for human health and well-being. People can live for two months without food, but will die in less than a week without water .

One of the greatest challenges facing the world in the twenty-first century is to preserve our natural reserves and to provide safe drinking water to the 20 percent or more of Earth's population that currently lacks easy access to it. The United Nations General Assembly proclaimed the years from 2005 to 2015 as the International Decade for Action "Water for Life " .

One of the solutions to the problem of water conservation is to recycle wastewater. Stensund Folk College near Stockholm, Sweden, for example, is putting wastewater to good use. The school treats the wastewater in a greenhouse, where it is then used to provide water to plants and fish in an integrated cultivation system. In Lima, Peru, ponds full of algae and other small organisms clean up the wastewater. After 20 days, it is safe for reuse. Currently many factories, hotel chains, and apartment buildings around the world are installing water recycling systems .

We all need to be part of the solution, too. We need to learn how to use our water wisely. So the next time you have a drink or take a shower, think of how fortunate you are, and save water for life.

Choose the correct answer:

1- Why do many people take water for granted? Because

- a it's cheap. b it's easily available. c it cools you down. d it isn't available.

2- What do people use to clean up wastewater in Peru? They use

- a sun b moon c algae d fish

3- How long can human beings live without water? They will die in

- a three weeks b two weeks c less than one week d one month
